

Did you ever fall hard on your chin, down in that hole, with the walls closing in Then remember that the wound is the place where the light shines in Cause we're born again, all the time, oh

Throw us into this world

Do it again – We'll crack the egg like a bird

We're flowing ink from a pen

Throw us into this world

We'll write a new script – to this day unheard

Where the coins have been flipped

And if you're ever down in the well, spiritual path will transform every cell

If you walk among ruins, that's where there's hope for treasure

Cause we're born again, everyday

Throw us into this world

Do it again – We'll crack the egg like a bird

We're flowing ink from a pen

Throw us into this world

We'll write a new script – to this day unheard

Where the coins have been flipped

And if you ever hear people say, you get one chance, don't throw it away

Take a look at the horizon, it's there tomorrow, and today

Cause we're born again all the time...

Throw us into this world

Do it again – We'll crack the egg like a bird

We're flowing ink from a pen

Throw us into this world

We'll write a new script – to this day unheard

Where the coins have been flipped